Since the Administration's last update regarding the West Natick Fire Station project, most noteworthy is that on September 12 the WNFS Building Committee, in conjunction with our design team, held a public meeting regarding the project. While close to 400 postcards were sent out to neighboring households, only 12 residents attended.

Despite the small turnout, a productive and informative dialogue transpired between area residents, the design team, building committee representatives, administration, and Board of Selectmen members.

The input received at this public meeting will certainly be taken into consideration, and the Building Committee and Administration are committed to holding future public meetings regarding this project.
